

Learning First Aid Basics in the Salon

Last Updated Sunday, 01 June 2008

Thanks to Frederick City's United Fire Company #3, the students of Frederick School of Cosmetology learned basic first aid tips. Emergencies can happen at any place and at any time. This interactive hands on experience allowed FSC students to learn value tips that could save a person's life. Members of the fire company provided basic first aid instruction to the students in the event of a first aid emergency at a salon. The techniques learned by the students are important steps to take until first responders arrive. The Frederick School of Cosmetology would like to thank United for their time and efforts. This was truly a valuable community strengthening activity.
